In the next section, eminent and experienced authors will describe the various options for treatment of Dupuytren’s Disease.

Every patient is different, every cord and nodule is different, every doctor is different. The options are not suitable in every case but knowledge of these will allow the doctor and patient to discuss what is best in each case.

License/Copyright: © 2018 Professor Warwick, David
This chapter is distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License. See license information at https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0/